A Primary Care Medical Home (PCMH) is a primary care medical office that puts the patient in the center of their health care. The PCMH model of care creates care teams that help patients understand all of the services that they will receive today, or may need in the future - even if the services are not being provided in the primary care office.

PCMH practices like Southeast are collaborative. This means that providers work as a team with in-office Care Managers, a Clinical Pharmacist, nurses, and other staff, as well as hospitals and specialists such as; Cardiologists, Urologists, Behavioral Health providers, Physical Therapists, etc., as needed, to ensure each patient gets the care they need at the right time.

Our PCMH practice supports patients in learning to manage and help to organize their own care. We want you to be an active member of your care team. Recognizing that patients and families are core members of the care team, PCMH practices like Southeast work with patients to provide complete care, better access to care and more coordinated care for their patients.
